

SITUATION IN EUROPE SPOILS HARDING PLANS

Pre-Inauguration Promise to Return Troops From Rhine Is Frustrated.

U. S. PLANS TO SIT TIGHT

No Changes Will Be Made Until After Reparations Mud-dle Is Clarified.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921)

Washington—American troops will remain on the Rhine at least until the present emergency arising out of Germany's refusal to accept the reparations proposals of the allies is cleared up.

The first act of the Harding administration toward Europe is to be sure, a passive policy but it is not without a certain significance. Mr. Harding had announced during the campaign that American troops would be brought back from the Rhine as quickly as possible after his election. Arrangements had been made through the Republican leaders in congress who handle appropriations to cause the withdrawal of the American contingent at an early date. The sudden turn of events abroad has, however, made it necessary to make a temporary change here, too.

President Harding discussed the whole question with his cabinet at the first meeting. Examination of the instructions given Gen. Allen in command of American troops revealed the fact that it was unnecessary for the American forces to move in any direction on account of the advance of the allied troops and that there would be no particular harm done if they simply waited where they were. Thus the allied forces alone would exact penalties from Germany and be in the position of enforcing the terms of the treaty. To the extent that the United States has decided to take no part in the enforcement of the treaty terms, it can be assumed that there has been no change in the determination of Mr. Harding gradually to withdraw America from active participation in European affairs, though they do bear a relationship to the war in which America was associated with the other powers.

May Misconstrue Action

On the other hand, Mr. Harding administration realizes full well that there is no necessity for adopting an attitude of gratuitous indifference to European affairs from a moral viewpoint and the argument has been effectively made that if the United States withdrew her troops at the very moment when the allied forces were advancing, it might be misconstrued by the Germans as an act of disapproval by the United States of allied policy and might stiffen the backs of the Germans.

So for the present it is the Harding policy as communicated to the state and war departments and concurred in by Secretaries Hughes and Weeks that nothing be done to aggravate the situation abroad either with respect to the allies or Germany and American troops therefore will sit tight and maintain a neutral attitude.

Technically the United States and Germany are still at war and the American forces on the Rhine are merely carrying out the terms of the armistice by occupying certain territory which was to be held by the American troops until a treaty of peace is signed. Everybody realizes that the failure of the United States to sign the treaty negotiated at Paris has created an anomalous situation from a legal standpoint though, in effect, the maintenance or withdrawal of the American forces is really of little military importance, or of relatively little expense to anybody. The Germans are required by the terms of the armistice to pay all the expenses of the American occupation, including that of the United States, and while the American government is advancing the funds, the payments will be made in due course by the Germans. As for strategic considerations, the advance of the allies has been beyond the points occupied by the American forces and broadly speaking the American troops are not in the way and can stay where they are without embarrassment to the allied military plans.

Of course if the present mud-dle or complications continues unsettled when the special session of congress convenes next month, the Harding administration will broaden its passive policy to include a postponement of the plan to pass the Knox peace resolution. Obviously the United States would not negotiate peace with Germany if there were an open breach between the allies and the Germans. The expectation, however, is that by time congress gets back to Washington the European situation will have been clarified sufficiently to enable the Harding administration to proceed with its plans for the making of peace with Germany.

LANG SENT TO PRISON FOR SLAYING PACINI

By United Press Leased Wire
Kenosha, Wis.—Frank Lang, found guilty by a jury for murder in the second degree of Charles Pacini, wealthy Italian theatre man last August, was sentenced to the Wisconsin State Penitentiary for twenty years on Thursday and sentenced to Waupun penitentiary for twenty years. Lang protested his innocence and was waiting to be taken to the penitentiary.

LIVING COST HINGES ON FACTIONAL FIGHT

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The cost of bread, meat and coal and other necessities to every American consumer may be directly influenced by the outcome of a struggle between the so-called stand-pat and progressive wings of the Republican party in full swing Friday in the senate.

It is a clash of ideas and principles, the issues in which are:

1—Whether corporations dealing in the necessities of life shall be classed as public service corporations and as such be subjected to such federal regulation.

2—Whether the ideas of government championed by the progressives or those of the standpaters shall be established as the policies of the new congress.

If the wing headed by Lodge, Smoot and Penrose wins, there will be no packer control bill, no regulation of the coal business as provided in the Calder bill, no curbing of gambling as proposed by Senator Capper, Kansas, no replacing of the unconstitutional statute against profiteering, the progressives declared.

Standpat leaders take as their text President Harding's campaign declaration for "less government in business."

The progressives headed by Borah, Johnson and Kenyon announce their intention of stirring up public sentiment against "standpat ideas" through the press. Various means of making the progressives harmless are being invoked by party leaders. One is the selection of a "suitable" agriculture committee which handles such measures as the packer bill and the other legislation sponsored by progressives. Senator Fugate, Vermont, is being urged to give up the chairmanship of the naval affairs committee to Senator Polinder, Washington, and take the agriculture chairmanship. This is because if he does not, Senator Norris, Nebraska, who favors the packer bill and other regulatory legislation, is entitled to the place.

ONLY 100 PLACES LEFT FOR ANNUAL C. OF C. DINNER

Purchase Tickets Now and Avoid the Rush Is Corbett's Suggestion.

Only about a hundred places are left for the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce. Tuesday evening in Elk hall with no reservations granted to the outside cities wanting to send delegations: Secretary Hugh G. Corbett expects to have a large part of these taken up by Saturday night, when reservations close, and he will then notify the other cities how many they may send.

Oshkosh is the latest city to plead for an opportunity to have some of its members honor Allen D. Albert's address on "Forces That Make Cities." At least three of the officers of the Association of Commerce will be here. The other cities to be represented are Milwaukee, Fond du Lac, Neenah and Seymour.

Mr. Corbett is suggesting to members that they purchase tickets at the chamber of commerce office sometime before Tuesday evening. There will be about 300 people in the hall, and a congestion will result if all wait until that time to obtain tickets. Reservations must be made by Saturday night, but tickets may be bought any time before the dinner.

Enthusiasm for the event is growing each day, and the officers hope to see a big demonstration for a bigger and better Appleton. They expect to have the banquet hall filled to capacity. A number of reservations have been made by wives of members and other women community leaders.

FRITZI SCHEFF FREED FROM CRUEL HUSBAND

Waterbury, Conn.—Fritzi Scheff, light opera singer, in private life Mrs. George Anderson, was granted a divorce in superior court here Friday. She charged intolerable cruelty.

"My husband was a charming companion and a loving husband when he was sober," Mrs. Scheff testified.

TARIFF AND TAX GIVEN RIGHT OF WAY BY HARDING

Congressional Leaders and President Are Agreed on Legislative Program.

START WORK ON TARIFF BILL

President Eager for Quick Action by Senate on Treaty With Colombia.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—A legislative program for the new congress was agreed upon by congressional leaders and tentatively approved by President Harding Friday.

It calls for the passage of the following major legislation in the order named:

Emergency tariff bill in the house while the Colombian treaty is being considered in the senate.

Complete revision of the tax laws. Passage of the army and navy appropriation bills.

A brief summer recess.

Permanent revision of the tariff laws.

In between the big bills will be considered the minor bills which are sanctioned to require attention. In addition, strong efforts may be made to revive the packer control bill and the measures providing federal aid for maternity and educational work.

Some kind of base on immigration, probably similar to the measure which former President Wilson pocket vetoed, undoubtedly will be passed.

ASSEMBLY WANTS A COMMITTEE TO PROBE TAXATION

Passage of Ingalls Resolution Puts Tax Problem Off to Next Session.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—The Ingalls joint resolution calling for a legislative committee to investigate the problem of taxation was adopted by the assembly Friday by a vote of 52 to 37.

Concurrence in the resolution by the senate will defer the entire taxation program to a special or the next regular session of the legislature.

The decision of the assembly is of far-reaching importance. The resolution calls for an interim committee consisting of five assemblymen and three senators to make a survey of the tax problem, investigating various systems of taxation relating to both property and incomes and recommending any changes the committee members deem advisable.

The resolution was adopted after a fight in which no attempt was made to disguise the fact that its passage would throw the taxation question over this session. At the last minute, the author of the resolution, Wallace Ingalls, assemblyman from Racine, amended it so that the committee might report at a special session.

The organization headed by Mark Catlin, appears determined to prevent tax legislation until a definite program is presented. The effect of the Ingalls resolution will be to postpone any legislation relative to taxes until the committee reports, providing, of course, the senate concurs.

GERMAN REDS WANT RUSSIAN ALLIANCE

Berlin.—Overthrow of the German government followed by establishment of a proletarian government allied with Russia, was preached at a work-meeting in the Lustgarten late Thursday.

The demonstration was staged to condemn the "capitalistic demands" of the allies at London.

There was a threat of bloodshed following the meeting. The great crowd broke from the Lustgarten and swarmed down Unter den Linden.

There was no organized procession but police unlimbered their rifles and threatened to shoot if the crowd did not disperse. The workers obeyed.

The red flag was carried by hundreds and ten thousand throats before speakers took the stand to declare that "the capitalists through the London proceedings desired to sentence us to hunger and slaughter."

HARDING WANTS TO DEAL WITH MEXICO

Reopening of Diplomatic Relations Will Be Undertaken in Near Future.

Washington.—President Harding will take action to establish diplomatic relations with Mexico, shortly. Several informal and purely unofficial exchanges have been made between representatives of President Harding and officials of the Obregon government.

Information conveyed to Harding is that Obregon is willing to go as far as public opinion in Mexico will permit in meeting demands of this government.

Harding recognizes the difficulties of Obregon's position and is willing to make concessions so long as the fundamental questions at issue are not affected.

Appointment of R. E. Creager, Brownsville, Texas, as ambassador to Mexico will not be announced until formal relations have been established.

Harding's second cabinet meeting is to be held Friday.

Harding had on his desk Friday a protest from labor officials against the proposed cut in wages of packing house employees in Omaha. Nob. Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, brought the memorandum to the White House late Thursday. Howard Manning, Columbus, Ohio, who is under consideration for appointment to the interstate commerce commission, was at the White House Friday.

WAGE PROBLEMS MUST GO TO RAILROAD BOARD

Washington.—If any railroad reduces wages without referring the question to the labor board, it will "act illegally and unlawfully," Senator Cummins, Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce commission and part author of the Esch-Cummings railroad law, said Friday.

Following a call at the White House at which railroad matters were discussed, said settlement of the wage question can come in only one way that he sees.

"It will have to be referred to the labor board," he said. "Where both sides of the question can be considered."

MINNESOTA IS IN GRIP OF CRIME WAVE

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul.—Governor Ivers Friday appealed to the legislature to enact laws to terminate the crime wave sweeping Minnesota.

It was his first special message of the session, delivered before a joint session of both houses this afternoon.

He appealed for greater power as the chief law enforcement officer of the state, indicating that he favors legislation now pending which would establish a state department of public safety.

Other legislation recommended as a means of stamping out crime included:

Laws to promote greater efficiency in administration of the criminal code. Measures to eliminate professional bondsmen.

Making carrying of concealed weapons a felony.

Strict regulations went into effect as the military regime assumed full control of the area.

All minor officials, policemen, firemen, foresters and customs officials were ordered to salute French officers under pain of courtmartial.

Censorship on newspapers became stricter and a 10 o'clock curfew was made effective.

Sentries at the city's main approaches and at the bridgeheads challenged every person who attempted to pass.

The Belgian line was extended along the Walskum canal from Speldert to Schmusel.

Palmer's Beer Ruling Renews Brewers' Hopes

DOERFLER NAMED TO SUCCEED KERWIN

Washington.—Any person or firm selling beer containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is breaking the law. Prohibition Commissioner Kramer told the United Press Friday.

Prohibition enforcement agents are under orders to make arrests in such cases, it was learned. Breweries of defiance also will be seized.

Kramer made his statement in explaining the recent rulings of former Attorney General Palmer which have been widely interpreted as permitting practically unlimited sale of beer under the guise of medicine.

Officials made plain that these regulations will be so drawn as to restrict the sale of beer for strictly medicinal purposes.

"Before anyone can sell beer, he must get a permit," Kramer said.

Brewers and others who wish to sell beer for medicinal purposes will have to make application for permits.

These applications will be passed on by the internal revenue bureau. When the permits are issued beer will be on the same basis as whiskey and anyone found selling beer for other than strictly medicinal purposes will be subject to prosecution. The permits will not be ready before April 1.

NEW CLEW MAY LEAD TO BOY'S IDENTITY

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee.—Search for those responsible for the death of the bobbed-haired boy found in a stone quarry near Waukesha, centered in the Italian quarter of Milwaukee Friday when suspicion pointed to a man and woman, former residents of the Waukesha Italian district and a romance that began in Italy several years ago.

The woman sought is the former wife of Antonio Riccardio, and the child is thought to have been her son and the man is said to be her second husband. The body was to be brought here and Riccardio will make an effort to identify it.

Riccardio was married in Italy and his son was born about nine years ago in the old country. A short time later they came to America.

The couple was divorced two years ago. The woman is said to have gone to Waukesha where she lived as the wife of another man. Recent efforts of Riccardio to find his son brought out that the couple and the child had disappeared.

Officials of the Schlitz and Pabst companies here declared they wanted more than the Palmer rulings before they started making beer with a "kick." No preparations had been made for the manufacture of real beer on the face of these rulings.

The local plants are devoting their time to soft drink manufacturing. Part of the Pabst buildings are being used by other firms, while the Schlitz company is relinquishing part of its real estate holdings.

New York Ready to Go
New York.—New York brewers are making preparations to manufacture real beer, under the ruling of the department of justice that beer can be produced and sold for medicinal purposes. These brewers believe that the ruling legalizes such manufacture and sale.

"There is a great demand for beer as a tonic," said Jacob Ruppert, head of a big brewery.

"Its medicinal value is increased by the fact that it has a great food value," Attorney General Palmer's ruling opens the way for the producing and marketing of real beer for the many people whom doctors consider "have need of it."

Christian Feigenbaum of Newark said that the great brewing establishment of which he is the head, was in a position to resume the manufacture of real beer on a very short notice.

He said the method recommended was approved.

SEEK EX-CONVICT AS MINNEAPOLIS SLAYER

Superior, Wis.—A Negro ex-convict of Minneapolis and Kansas City, Friday was blamed for the murder of William Hooks, Minneapolis taxi cab owner.

Police here elicited enough information to convince them they said, that Hooks was murdered for his auto, a big Locomobile, which was found near here.

The body of Hooks was found in a haystack at North Branch.

"Battling" Bowen, Negro prize-fighter, held on a charge of robbing a gambling house in Duluth, told police of a Negro who approached him in Minneapolis and told him there was only one way to "get away with cars."

He said the method recommended was approved.

MORE RAILROADS WANT TO CUT MEN'S WAGES

Chicago.—Wage reductions affecting thousands of employees were proposed Friday by nearly every western railway with headquarters in Chicago.

The Santa Fe, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Chicago, Great Western, Chicago Rock Island and Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern were among the roads to propose wage cuts.

Officials of the road will confer with representatives of the employees here March 21 to discuss wage adjustments.

Other roads are expected to do so.

HINT AT CONSPIRACY IN STOKES DIVORCE CASE

New York.—That Mrs. W. E. D. Stokes will contend the testimony introduced in her millionaire husband's suit for divorce is the result of a gigantic conspiracy, was indicated by her Friday.

Mrs. Stokes together with her mother, Mrs. Arthur S. Miller of Denver, and Dr. Hal Billig, one of seven correspondents, all hinted at a "conspiracy" involving very prominent persons.

"The plot involved in this case is so big and its ramifications so wide that no newspaper would dare publish the real story, even were we disposed to tell it now—which we are not," Mrs. Miller told a reporter.

All the testimony introduced to date has been by witnesses for Stokes.

Want France To See Error Of Her Policy

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Cancellation of the allied reparations penalties can be expected as soon as the foreign policy of the United States is outlined distinctly, it was believed in official circles Friday.

It was believed Germany may then appeal to the American countries to support her in appealing to the league of nations against occupation.

Great Britain and Italy consented to inflicting the German penalties only to "cure" France of her continual demand for punishment of Germany, it was stated authoritatively Friday.

Lloyd George and Count Storza were said to have decided that if France could be convinced of the ineffectiveness of reprisals, the next series of conferences would have a better chance of ending the long fight.

Customs collected along new line in Germany were said to be insignificant, not even meeting the cost of occupation. France it was asserted, will be convinced quickly that the wrong problem is being followed and will be willing to remove the penalties as soon as Germany presents a satisfactory offer to reopen negotiations.

JEALOUSY WAS DEATH MOTIVE, STATE CHARGES

Jake Hamon's Past History Is Spooled Up as Clara Smith Trial Opens.

HAMON HAD ACCUSED GIRL

Witnesses Declare That Alleged Slayer Was Often Seen With a Pistol.

By United Press Leased Wire
Courtthouse, Ardmore, Okla.—Clara Smith Hamon heard herself branded as a rich man's chattel and a cold-blooded murderess and did not wince Friday.

The pretty defendant, charged with slaying Jake Hamon, the millionaire oilman of the southwest, went under the hot sun of the Oklahoma courtroom to face the state expected to prove, "Fortune smiled on Jake Hamon."

Freeling said.

"Everything he touched turned to gold; he became rich and powerful; he rose to a high position as a political leader."

"The prosecutor said he would prove that the defendant was jealous of the deceased Hamon."

Clara shot him as he lay across the bed, Freeling charged.

The motive, he said, was that Hamon had threatened to return to his family, to join the church and to become a good citizen because he had reached political power.

"The proof will show Hamon told Dr. Hardy, in charge of the hospital, 'I am shot. Clara did it. I'm going to die.'"

"We will prove that Hamon pleaded with Dr. Hardy 'for God's sake never tell this—say it was an accident.'"

"The defendant stayed in the Randol hotel that night. The next day she called on Hamon at the hospital for a few minutes."

"Frank Ketch, Hamon's business manager, then called on Hamon."

"Hamon asked Ketch not to tell that the defendant shot him."

"Ketch then ordered the defendant to leave town—never to come back. He gave her $5,000 to leave."

"Dr. Hardy will testify that Hamon told him that the defendant shot the millionaire when he was lying across his bed."

Freeling then told of Clara's flight of her confession to E. W. Salis, Dallas chauffeur. Freeling's seething brand played on Clara apparently left her unmoved.

Freeling said Clara followed Hamon to Ardmore in 1913 and became his stenographer.

"They began living together as husband and wife," he charged.

"Hamon's wife and children remained back in Lawton."

"The life of the defendant and Hamon was continued in open adultery."

"But fortune smiled on Hamon. He became wealthy. Many trips were taken by Hamon and the defendant. He paid all the expenses. He sent her to school; he educated her."

"The defendant was jealous of Mr. Hamon. They had lovers' quarrels. The usual result of illicit love."

"Then Hamon became a political power; he grew powerful."

"The estrangement between the defendant and Hamon started since he realized he must stop his way of living."

"He determined to quit the old life, take his family back; join the church."

"Immediately after the November elections when Hamon was swept to power the defendant purchased a pistol at a hardware store in Oklahoma City."

J. S. Moffet, capitalist, was the first witness. He said Hamon and the defendant were on intimate terms for months. Mike Gorman, Ardmore banker, declared he had seen Clara Smith hold a pistol in her hand when he visited Hamon at his rooms in the Randol hotel. The woman left the room shortly after Gorman entered.

Dr. E. T. Marlow, optician, testified he saw a pistol in the woman's hand-bag when she opened it in his store in September, 1920. W. E. Myers, employed in a hardware store, told the jury the defendant had purchased a revolver shortly before Hamon died.

ADMIT INABILITY TO COLLECT TAXES ON LOSING SALES

Government's Position Means Return of Millions of Dollars to Taxpayers.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Two or three hundred million dollars will be returned to taxpayers as the result of concessions made by the federal government in important tax suits argued before the Supreme court Friday.

The taxes in dispute arose under the section of the 1916 income tax law, which places a levy on the profit derived from the sale of capital assets, extended to bonds and other securities and provided that this tax should be placed on the gain in value between March 1, 1913, and the date of sale.

The result of the application of the provision was that many people were taxed on losses instead of gains. Securities purchased before March 1, 1913, were sold at a loss after the income tax became effective, but the selling price happened to be higher than the market value on March 1, 1913, and the government in lower value was again taxable as income.

Solicitor General Frierson in the court Friday conceded in behalf of the government cannot place a tax on him there is no gain to the taxpayer, the government cannot place a tax on him even though selling price was higher than the market value on March 1, 1913. The action virtually nullifies this section of the law, as the supreme court is now thought certain to hold it unconstitutional.

APPLETON CAGERS DEFEAT NIAGARA

High School Team Plays Fond du Lac in Oshkosh Basketball Tourney Tonight.

Appleton high school basketball team earned a place in the ninth annual sectional tournament in Oshkosh Friday morning when it defeated Niagara, 20 to 17, in a thrilling game. Niagara threw a big surprise in the Appleton camp and carried the fight to the Gold and Blue men to the last few minutes of play. Appleton held the lead the greater part of the time but the northern school was always so close behind that a spurt would change the result.

Appleton plays Fond du Lac in what should be the feature game of the tournament at 8:30 Friday night. More than a hundred Appleton fans are now in Oshkosh and it is believed that number will be doubled for the night game. Fond du Lac and Appleton have split even in the two games played thus far this year. Fond du Lac winning on the Appleton floor and Appleton winning in Fond du Lac.

MILWAUKEE HAS NEW "POISON MYSTERY"

Milwaukee.—Milwaukee authorities were confronted with another "poison mystery" Friday.

A woman, who is thought to have taken strychnine, is in a serious condition in Emergency hospital. Her condition is such that authorities have been unable to question her as to her identity. The woman is about 50 years old and said to be a frequent user of notorious districts of the city.

The latest "poison mystery" followed on the heels of a vice drive launched by the reorganized detective department, after the resignation of Captain John T. Sullivan. The police and fire commission was to meet Friday night with instructions to meet additional members of the police department may be asked to resign.

Barney Barrett, arrested for perjury in connection with testimony given on the inquest into the death of Esther R. Repstine, Milwaukee's first "poison girl" was to be arraigned in court on Friday afternoon for conspiracy in the death of Repstine.

UNIFORM TEXTBOOKS FOR BADGER SCHOOLS

Madison.—Uniform textbooks to be purchased by a textbook commission and used in all public schools in the state, is provided in a bill to be introduced soon by Assemblyman Ben H. Mahon, Milwaukee, through the committee on education of the assembly.

The bill follows closely upon the passage of the free textbook bill by the assembly. This bill provides for the purchase of textbooks by school districts and boards of education and supplied to all pupils free of charge. The bill is now being considered in the senate.

The Mahon bill creates a commission, members of which serve without pay with the superintendent of public instruction as chairman. Textbooks of approved type are to be purchased by means of sealed proposals.

The commission is to be appointed by the assembly.

After about three minutes of play the Colts made the first marker for the Fox club team. After two more minutes of play, L. Brenzel scored for the Colts on a rather lucky shot. The Colts kept in the lead nearly all during the game. The Fox club tied the count several times.

Wiggers, who played center for the "young horses" had a streak at shooting, and several times he made some long tries for the goal that were successful. McDonald did most of the scoring for the Fox Club but he took about twice as many chances as he made baskets. At the end of the first half the Colts were at the bottom end of a 10 to 8 string.

Cub Buck, who played forward for his team, tried his best to cage the ball, but the jinx was with him, and no matter how carefully he aimed, he failed to cage the ball. The lineup: Cubie—Buck, Lander, forward; Wiggers, center; Frey and L. Brenzel, guards.

Fox Club—McDonald, Garvey, forward; Rennie, center; Spindler and W. Brenzel, guards.

In the Mulford-Third ward game, the issue was decided in the first 10 minutes of play. The visitors made the first score in the first 10 seconds of the game. They added a basket and a free throw before the Mulford team could score. Chopin made the first marker and Homan followed several minutes later. At the end of the first half the score stood 7 to 4. Ristan and Lueitke were replaced by Ott and Curry after the first five minutes of the game.

Webb, Appleton forward, was the best player on the floor. When he got hold of the ball it nearly always meant a marker for his team.

Negative Team Wins at Waukesha and Affirmatives Are Victors Here.

Lawrence college debate teams Thursday evening won a double debate with Carroll college by a 5 to 1 decision. The question was: Resolved that further Japanese immigration into the United States should be prohibited.

The debate in Main hall was judged by Prof. J. M. O'Neill and Prof. Edwards of the public speaking department of the University of Wisconsin. Prof. D. O. Kinsman of the economics department of Lawrence college acted as chairman.

A large number of Lawrence students and faculty members and a few townspeople attended. LOAN ASSOCIATION SEEKS RESUMPTION OF HOME BUILDING

Directors Plan Action to Counteract Activities of Swindlers.

One of the most "peppy" meetings held by directors of the Appleton Building and Loan association for some time occurred Thursday evening. Applications for loans amounting to $4,000 were approved and a lengthy discussion followed on the building situation and on methods of building up the association. Members of standing committees were present in addition to the directors.

Some interesting reasons were advanced for the evident suspension of building activities in Appleton. Business conditions, costs and other factors were blamed, but no conclusion was reached. The association believed that many more homes ought to be in process of construction, and intends to find out why.

A committee was appointed to arrange an informal meeting of contractors, building material dealers, representatives of carpenter, mason and other building unions, and any other men having to do with construction work. A round table discussion will be held, analyzing the whole situation and an attempt will be made to find out just what reason underlies the cessation of building.

Efforts of the directors and others to secure new members for the association have proven quite satisfactory, and the report of George H. Beckley,

Repair Side Roads
Considerable attention is being given the side roads leading to paved highways in the country these days. Farmers find the roads in just the right condition for dragging and are treating them with split log drag, giving a level surface. The farmers are doing the work on their own initiative, because they find it more convenient to auto to town over well kept roads and this affords exercise for their horses.

Lease New Quarters
Attorney Claude G. Cannon, whose office has been located for several years in the former bank building at the corner of College-ave and Morrison-st., recently purchased by J. E. Schmidt, dentist, has also leased a suite.

RED CROSS SERVED MANY VETERANS

Need of Government Aid Is Just Being Discovered by Many Ex-Service Men.

Central division of the American Red Cross, which includes Outagamie county, gave aid to 418,329 ex-service men last year and $5,263 during January, 1921, according to reports received by Mrs. B. W. Wells, county secretary. The division covers Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska.

Personal service in the large variety of matters is on the increase because some men are just learning what their government rights are and many are just beginning to feel the effects of injuries and ailments acquired during the war. It is estimated that more than 20,000 men in the hospitals will increase to 50,000 during the next three years. Most of these receive Red Cross aid.

Records of the United States public health service indicate that thousands of former service men are developing tuberculosis and other lung affections directly traceable to war service. Others seek treatment for nerve disorders and mental troubles.

Another 125,000 men have just been declared by the federal vocational board to be vocationally handicapped. Sixty thousand are receiving vocational training and provision is to be made for the remainder. The Red Cross expects to reach an additional 175,000 men who will be helped to earn a living and be an asset to the nation instead of a liability.

BAPTIST CHURCH IS PLANNING NEW HOME

Advisory Committee Recommends Immediate Start on Plans for Structure.

A new home for First Baptist church practically was assured when the advisory board of the church recommended immediate work on plans for a new structure and the appointment of a building committee of 12 to take charge. The recommendation will be submitted at a special meeting of the congregation called for the purpose of discussing the proposition.

The board, after tabulating all the financial resources of the congregation, found it had a sufficient sum at its command to warrant action at this time.

The present church home no longer is adequate for the congregation. It is not provided with the equipment the congregation believes a church home should have and it is not large enough.

It has not been determined whether the new building will be erected on the site of the present structure or if a new location is to be secured. There is considerable sentiment for leaving the church where it now is but the possibility of business houses and institutions growing on all sides and smothering the church is being considered. Several other sites, quite centrally located, are under consideration.

Some tentative plans for the building have been submitted but have not been entirely satisfactory. There is a possibility the church will take the form of the Baptist temple in Oshkosh, regarded as one of the finest church edifices in Wisconsin.

DR. VAUGHAN TO SPEAK IN TEMPLE ZION TONIGHT

A large attendance is expected at Temple Zion services Friday evening to hear Dr. J. G. Vaughan of Lawrence college. He will speak on "Haman and Ford vs. Mordacai and Rosetta Schwemmer." Stereoscopic views of Palestine are to be shown by Dr. Vaughan following his address. He will also comment on the Balfour declaration and the British mandate.

Services are to start promptly at 7 o'clock, owing to the address by former Vice President Marshall in Lawrence chapel at 8:30. It is expected that the gathering will close in time for the Marshall lecture.

"GRANDEST ON EARTH," SAYS MILWAUKEE WOMAN

Mrs. Unold Gains Fifteen Pounds and Declares She Never Felt Better in Life Since Taking Tan-lac.

"It was Tanlac that put me on the road to health and happiness when nothing else seemed to help me any, and I can never praise the medicine enough," said Mrs. May Unold, of 833 Fifth-st., Milwaukee, Wis.

"For two or three years before I got Tanlac my stomach was so badly disordered that nothing I ate seemed to agree with me. I suffered terribly with indigestion and gas formed in such quantities it simply made me miserable. I couldn't ever enjoy a meal, and my head ached so bad that frequently it just felt like it would split open. I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep, and would get up feeling tired and worn out and often worse than when I retired. I had little strength or energy and never felt like looking after my work.

"I knew some people who were getting such splendid results from Tanlac that I began taking it myself and it proved to be the very thing I was needing, for it has only taken six bottles of the medicine to fix me up just fine. I enjoy all my meals now, my stomach never troubles me a particle and the headaches have all disappeared. I sleep like a child every night, have actually gained fifteen pounds in weight and have recovered my strength and energy so that I always feel fit for my daily duties. I have already told a great many about the wonderful good Tanlac has done me, and I can't recommend the medicine too highly."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt; F. O. Brown, Shoket; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale; R. E. Lowell, Little Chute. adv.

OLD FASHIONED FOLKS IS THEME OF SERMON

Some folks are foolishly old-fashioned. Some folks are foolishly afraid of being old-fashioned. Some folks had rather be dead than out of fashion. These and some other folks will be discussed by Dr. I. B. Wood in his address on "Old Fashioned Folks" which is to be presented at First Methodist church next Sunday evening. This is a theme which is of unusual interest just now, because of all that is being said about the extremes in modern styles. There are some things to be said on both sides of the question of being "behind the times." The service will commence at 7:30.

Religious Movie
A religious moving picture, "Satan's Scheme," is to be presented in Bushey Business college at 2:30 and 7:30 Sunday by Olive Branch society of Mount Olive Lutheran church. WAR-HATERS MULTIPLY

The suffering peoples of the world abominate the talk of more war. Men of vision know this, but apparently the men who control the governments of the world do not know it, for they are still piling up armaments just as if the events of 1914-1918 and their lasting heritages were forgotten. When the next devastating conflict is precipitated, pacifism, so called, and the opposing forces of all sorts will present a far more serious problem for governments to grapple with than was presented in 1914-1918. In England the growth of pacifism, as reported, is really startling. Practically all British men of letters of importance are said to be converted to the pacifistic principle. Among these are mentioned such prominent names as those of Thomas Hardy, Robert Bridges (the poet laureate), Sir Philip Gibbs, H. G. Wells, Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, Bertrand Russell and Maurice Hewlett—all joining in eloquent denunciation of war. Even novelists who have penned fiction full of fighting have nothing but abhorrence for what war has become.

In his reactions Bertrand Russell has gone far along the radical road. As for Maurice Hewlett, he has turned to the conscientious objectors as the only ideal religious sect, the only real Christians. In a recent address to a gathering of Quakers Maurice Hewlett is said to have expressed complete distrust of diplomats and governments where the question of war is concerned, and to have held that future wars can be prevented only by "direct inaction," meaning nothing less than wholesale strikes against wars by the people called upon to wage them. Picture a government declaring war and the majority of the people under that government going on a strike and refusing to serve. Nothing less than civil war would follow, unless the government backed down and came to humiliating terms with the foreign enemy. Here is a straw that heedless armament-increasing governments may well take note of.

The old "romance of war" seems to have departed never to return. The world's peoples were sickened by the late terrific conflict, its wholesale slaughters, its unparalleled cruelties, its unmentionable bestialities. President Wilson was one of the first to perceive this, and no doubt that was the chief reason why he labored to make war's prevention an inseparable part of the peace, insisting on a league of nations to prevent war as a binding condition of the treaty of Versailles. European government leaders saw a part of what he saw and accepted the proposition, though doubtful of practical results. Dominant political leadership in America saw no part of it and wholly rejected the proposition. A scheme giving form to the world's hopes has thus far been prevented even a trial or a genuine test, and governments are going on as before, piling up armaments and preparing for more wars.

It is certain that sooner or later if governments do not take steps to end war and enforce peace the people will take the matter in hand themselves. Men are not going to go on indefinitely in the useless butchery of war without rebellion. Nations can terminate the rule of force in world affairs the same as they substitute law and order for force in their internal affairs. The governmental machinery of the world is on test, and it includes the United States. If this machinery does not function to stop the armament craze and preparations for war and to adopt effective measures for the preservation of peace the next time a great war is attempted revolution is apt to precede international conflict. If the cataclysm which commenced in 1914 has not taught governments this it has not taught anything and was altogether a useless sacrifice.

OUR EX-PRESIDENTS

The announcement that Mr. Wilson would return to the practice of law doubtless caused astonishment in Europe, where such a pursuit is not supposed to befit the dignity of a man who has been the chief government officer of a great nation. The surprise in this country was due only to Mr. Wilson's ill health and the fact that many years have passed since the legal profession has known him. Other retiring presidents have returned to the practice of law, when they faced the need both of occupying their minds and of providing for their families.

Mr. Taft might have returned to the law, but preferred a professorship at Yale and journalism on the side. Benjamin Harrison returned to his law practice, as did Grover Cleveland. Mr. Wilson's announcement of a similar purpose must have startled the knowing Washington correspondents who had arranged for him to write history, and particularly the history of the Paris peace conference. The high price offered by a publisher's syndicate for the first article written by Mr. Wilson after he left the White house was in itself assurance that an ex-president with his forceful literary style and unique experience could earn much money with his pen.

The announcement has brought forward the old subject of "what to do with our ex-presidents." One editor, like no few others before him, insists that ex-presidents should not have to "fight for a living," that "their work should be for the people," and that "the nation should make provision for them so that it can have the full advantage of their wisdom and experience brought to bear directly on public questions." Our system of party government, with its inevitable partisanship, renders largely impracticable this idea. Perhaps the better way is to permit our ex-presidents to follow their own inclinations on leaving the White house, and live they way they wish to.

BEER AND LIGHT WINES

It is as consistent to permit doctors to prescribe beer and wines for medicinal purposes as to prescribe whisky. Consequently there should be no surprise at the ruling made by former Attorney-General Palmer, dated March 3rd, and just made public, which holds the government is without authority to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor, wines or beer for non-beverage purposes. Notwithstanding congress has undertaken to limit the amount which may be prescribed to one person to a pint in ten days, the attorney-general in effect holds that the question of the quantity of liquor that may be used to advantage as a medicine in each particular case should be left to the professional judgment of the physician.

Beer is to be prescribed in much the same manner as whisky except that it will be delivered direct from the breweries to the home on the certificate of a physician. This will mean that with the institution of the new policy beer will be available to every person who cares to use it or keep it in his home. No one would have any difficulty in securing a prescription on representation that he might make as to the need of beer or wine for a tonic. Breweries should be able to resume operations without fear of transgressing the law, provided only they adhere to the formalities laid down by the department of justice and do not seek to take advantage of the latitude conferred upon them.

The net result of this change will be to give the country about the degree of prohibition we think it really desires. It makes it possible to have beer in the home, and it enables those with ill or imaginary ills to quench their thirst at pleasure. In the meantime we have done away with the objectionable saloon and we may accept it as final that this institution as we knew it will never be revived. The lid on prohibition has at last been lifted sufficiently to gratify the many who have long been at it with a crowbar. To what extent this may still further encourage illicit traffic in liquor and beer remains to be seen. If the people will be sensible and not insist upon being sick to an unreasonable degree the prescription route ought to satisfy our conscientious objectors for some time to come. When this new ruling is fully appreciated there should be enough demand for beer for medicinal purposes to keep the breweries running pretty nearly on full schedule. Even at that prohibition might fare worse.

THE IMPORTANCE OF MICA

The main importance of mica in modern industry lies in the fact that it is one of the "power" conductors of electricity and therefore desirable for the purposes of insulation. It is almost indispensable in the electrical industry.

Health Talks

Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. FOR LADIES ONLY Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work—hey, what about that? Woman's work? She knows it here.

Here is a letter which ought to give a great many women a mean five minutes:

"Dear Dr. Brady:
"I am a (low tremolo) young girl eighteen years of age. I am 65 inches tall in stocking feet and I weigh 135 pounds. I am rather ashamed to confess that I am perfectly fat. My mother is dead and I am trying to fill the place she left vacant. We are regularly a family of six, but there are almost always a few extra guests. Ours is an eight room house, large rooms, especially the kitchen, which takes an hour to scrub. I do all the work. Luckily I have a washing machine and a carpet sweeper (not vacuum), so there are two tasks made easier. I also have a bread mixer which is a great convenience. I am very particular—things have to be just so, and naturally I work hard to keep things just so, though I am speedy at work and always in something of a hurry, never taking time to rest until the work in hand is all finished. The only square meal I have through the day is the evening meal, which we call 'supper.' I do all my own housecleaning, from picking up pins to beating carpets and moving furniture. I even move the piano when necessary, although the folks tell me I must not. I take care of the lawn, which takes about two hours to clip and massage. In winter I shovel snow and skate a good deal. When my home work and baking are done I take care of the church, a fifteen minute ride from the house—sweep, dust, scrub, and clean it all myself."

Yes, ladies, this reads like a fairy tale, we must admit, but it is a bona fide document. The girl will be chopping all the wood for the church stove and milking the cows for the church supper before we reach the end of this terrible confession!

"Just because I can't bear the sight of dirt, and then I hurry home to get supper, I take part in everything done at church, head as well as hands to help the plans along. Therefore I am out five nights a week and seldom get into bed before eleven o'clock. I must get up not later than 6:15 a. m. in winter and 6 o'clock in summer. Of course I hate to hear the alarm clock—seems as though I have just gone to bed—but I always do get up. I sleep like a log; indeed, I am asleep often when I roll into bed."

"Now neighbors tell me I will break down and ruin my health and be wrinkled and gray and done before I am thirty if I keep on working so hard. They called in a long stream to tell me that while I was doing up nearly three hundred jars of preserves last fall. They thought I ought to buy store preserves, but I can't bear. . . . They warn me I am sure to pay for my fun in later years. Do you think that in ten years' time I'll be old and cramped up? It seems to me that I am happiest when using every ounce of strength and energy the Lord gave me to some good purpose."

"I'm relying on your answer. Tell me the honest to goodness truth about it all."

"(Giss)
Everything fine except insufficient sleep. The girl who means to retain her youthful complexion and her youthful good looks and vigor will not fail to get in TEN hours of sleep every night, even though she has to let the lawn run into Timothy or permit sanctimonious dust to gather in the dark corners of the church."

But so far as the work is concerned, no medicine can be better for a woman's health, good looks, and morals. The curse of this present day is the workless woman, the woman who does nothing but waste her time and her husband's or somebody else's money. Yes, and the woman who can bear to depend on store preserves and every other little thing she can find ready to eat. These workless women are as often found in homes that can't as in homes that can afford the luxury."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Prescribing Exercise

What would you recommend in the way of exercise for a patient too weak to undertake much strenuous effort? (L. G. E.)

ANSWER—Great caution. The patient's attending physician is the only one in a position to prescribe the kind or dose of exercise, if exercise is advisable. It is quite as important and difficult a problem to prescribe exercise as it is to prescribe drugs, and requires quite as careful judgment and intimate knowledge of the patient and his condition. This a great many of our readers somehow do not realize.

Tea Habit

I am sixty years of age and in the habit of drinking about six cups of weak tea daily. It has apparently caused no ill effect, but well meaning friends keep telling me it will give me rheumatism. (Mrs. K. E. G.)

ANSWER—That which some tea habitues call weak would tan the stomach of an ostrich. Six cups of tea a day are about four too many for the good of most of us, but I cannot say that you are sure to suffer any ill effects. There is no reason particularly to fear the development of any of the diseases vulgarly called rheumatism.

Babies to Lend!

You wrote about adopting a baby if we had none in our home. Please tell me where we can get one. A boy baby. We have a nice country home and would love to have a little boy of our own. (D. M.)

ANSWER—Ought to have your family doctor's advice and help, to be sure the baby's health and heredity are good. Various maternity institutions have 'em.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Friday, March 13, 1896

The city was suffering from an epidemic of grip. Father Clifford was at Oconto on a business trip. Ellis B. Tisher of the LaCrosse Chronicle was an Appleton visitor.

Mrs. W. A. Carleton of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton, was a guest in the family of A. B. Whitman.

Prof. L. N. Stewart of Milwaukee, formerly principal of Ryan high school, was calling on friends here.

Editor Byron J. Price of the Hudson Star and Times, was spending the day in Appleton. Mr. Price graduated from Lawrence university with the class of 1874.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hoeder entertained 40 friends at what the previous evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. A. H. Wickert, David Furstenberg, Mrs. Herman Hecker and John Goodland, Jr.

W. E. Starr of New Milford, Conn., accepted the position of assistant superintendent at Pettibone's. The Irish comedy drama, "Shamrock and Rose" was to be presented at Columbia hall on the evening of St. Patrick's day. The cast consisted of Paul Aylward, Thomas Keefe, Edward S. Baer, John Burke, Joseph Walsh, Willard McGilligan, Miss Hattie Shavers, Mrs. J. Wheeler and Miss Alice Egan.

E. E. Crider was exhibiting his patent bicycle runner attachment for winter bicycling at the cycle show at Marinette.

The Movie Censor

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—Shall censors, national, state, or local, be set up to prescribe what the movies may show?

missioners of the District of Columbia. The immediate issue was on a local case. Reformers asked that the local producers be put on probation for and what they may not, or shall they be allowed the same freedom as the stage, the newspapers, and the magazines?

This question has just been hotly debated in a packed meeting before the committee of time, and if they failed to be good, that a board be constituted to censor their productions under certain fixed rules.

The producers, the reformers and the public, who crowded in to hear the arguments, recognized that the issue was really a national one. A local victory for censorship would mean its rapid extension. And more than censorship of the movies was involved. The whole question of the right of Americans to free expression is tied up in the right of a motion picture producer to produce what he will, subject to the statutes which afford protection against libel, indecency, and treason.

Those who favor censorship brought forward the arguments that have been used in its behalf many times before. They asserted that the movies show love scenes which are suggestive, and scenes of violence. The implication is that impressionable youths witnessing such scenes on the screen will be impelled to imitate them. Therefore, in the interests of public morals some measure must be taken to prevent the showing of such scenes. It was brought out that the movies are already censored in four states, and the Pennsylvania censorship was held up as a model.

Is Censorship Constitutional

The producers defended their right to freedom from many different viewpoints. One of the strongest points they made was that to censor the motion pictures is unconstitutional and contrary to the theory of our present government. It is admitted generally that freedom of speech and freedom of the press are essentials of a Democracy, and are necessary to the progress of civilization. The Constitution specifically provides that no law shall be passed in the United States to abridge or restrain the right of free speech and a free press. The motion pictures are a part of the press, obviously, or at least stand in exactly the same relation to the public. They are a form of art and medium both of news and ideas. The Constitution certainly seems to protect such a medium from a censorship. It means, if it means anything, that a motion picture producer has a right to produce what he pleases, just as the owner of a newspaper or a book publisher has a right to print what he pleases. If he commits libel or treason or indecency, there are statutes and police regulations under which he can be prosecuted. But the Constitution, the producer argues, obviously prohibits any law which shall lay in advance what shall be produced and what shall not. If this restriction is to be laid upon the movies, they contend, then it is equally right to pass laws saying in advance what the newspapers and magazines and book publishers may print and what they may not.

Q. What is a Kiwanis club and what does the name mean? R. G. T.

A. The Kiwanis club is an organization of business men to promote industry. The name is a coined word derived from a Cherokee phrase meaning "we trade."

Q. What is meant by the Fifth Monarchy? F. H. N.

A. According to Daniel's prophecy four great monarchies of Antichrist—Assyria, Persia, Greece, and Rome—were to be succeeded by a fifth monarchy—the reign of Christ on earth for 1,000 years.

Q. How much does it cost to drill an oil well in Oklahoma? T. E. M.

A. The Bureau of Mines states that in the mid-continental field, the costs of drilling wells vary from $1.75 a foot in shallow pools of Oklahoma, to $7.50 in some new and actively developing areas. In addition to this, the owner must supply casing. The total drilling costs in Oklahoma average from $12.00 to $15.00 per foot with exception of wells in the old shallow district in northeastern Oklahoma, where drilling costs are as low as $4.00 to $5.00 a foot for wells to a depth of 1250 feet.

Q. What is the origin of the word "sun"? S. B. B.

A. The word has been used since medieval times, and its origin is obscure, probably having been some person's name.

Q. Is it true that the Japanese Government has refused to allow the Philippine Government to put a weather observation station on the Island of Yap? D. F. D.

A. The State Department says that the Japanese Government has issued a permit for this purpose, and the station will be established.

Q. How often is mail sent to the mines stationed at Port-au-Prince? A. G.

A. The Post Office Department says that mail is sent from the United States to the mines stationed in Port-au-Prince, Haiti, about Here, indeed, it was pointed out, the whole question of personal liberty is raised. If you once begin taking away the liberties of the individual for his own good, it was argued, it is very hard to stop there. Liquor having been taken away from him, there are now robust movements afoot to ban tobacco, to ban amusement on Sunday, to ban dancing and short skirts and high heels. And if you admit any one of these, you admit them all. Say goodbye to one of your liberties, and soon the whole family of them will have left you. There are just two theories possible. Government may be regarded as a means of organizing society in order to secure the rights of the individual against the aggressions both of other individuals and other governments. In that case, it should impose the least possible restraint.

It should let a man do as he pleases, so long as he does not trespass on the right of any one else to do the same. This, it is contended, is the theory upon which our government is founded.

All Liberties or None
Once you start taking away liberties, you must abandon this theory altogether. For no line can be drawn. You must then regard government as a means of regulating every detail of individual life, prescribing what each and all of us shall eat, drink, wear, how and where we shall make love, what we should love and what we should read. This latter certainly seems to be the purpose and ideal of the reform movement. It would make us morally perfect by legal enactment. The proponents of freedom say that this is a demonstrated impossibility in the first place. In the second place they claim that it would thwart the development of individuality, which is the really valuable human quality and the source of all progress. It would tend, they say, to make of us a vast aggregation of human machines, moved not by individual taste and intelligence, but by a clockwork of law and regulation. That is what it would do, if it succeeded. Prohibition is pointed out by some as an example of what happens if a people refuses to accept such regulations of conduct.

Returning to the matter of censorship, its records was attacked and defended. The friends of censorship claimed that it has done much good in states where it has been put into effect, by saving the youth of those states from witnessing many scenes of love and violence. The opponents of censorship claimed that it has been ridiculous and arbitrary wherever it has been tried. They cited the case of a lady appointed to censor the movies who prohibited all funeral scenes and other scenes suggesting death on the ground that she had recently suffered a bereavement, and it harrowed her feelings to witness such scenes.

The opponents claimed that censorship has always been arbitrary. They claim that the whole public must judge of a production and that one individual or group of individuals cannot fail to go moved largely by prejudices, and other individual peculiarities. Equally, they say, it is impossible to apply a set of rules to a work of art. Thus in England until a few years ago there was national censorship of the stage. Under this law it was found necessary to suppress the work of some of the greatest dramatists, including Ibsen, Shaw, and finally the great classic Sophocles, who had been studied by English school-boys for generations.

The result of the hearing seemed to be inconclusive. At least the arguments of both sides got a good airing. The sympathies of the crowd seemed to be with the producers rather than with the reformers.

New Strength and Energy For the Weak and Aged

To be strong, vigorous and active you must have plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It quickly helps make rich red blood, revitalizes worn-out, exhausted nerves and gives new strength and energy. At all drug stores. Beware of substitutes. Always insist on having genuine Seymour Shocked by Tragedy in Neighbor Town—Other Seymour News.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Seymour—The people of this community were shocked Saturday afternoon by the sudden death of Ole Hamseth, a well known resident of the town of Lessor.

Mr. Hamseth was in fairly good health but was troubled with indigestion. He took two tablets that he supposed were the kind he usually took for his ailment at noon. He went to the barn to return to his work but five minutes later he felt quite strange and became numb. He returned to the house and told his wife how he felt. His wife examined the pills remaining and found they were intended for his cattle. A doctor was summoned at once. He had taken enough of the deadly medicine to kill three persons. He suffered untold agony for few hours when death came. His age was 40 years and leaves a wife and several small children. He was well known in Seymour.

WOMANS CLUB HEAD RAPS MODERN DANCE

Green Bay—The National Council of Catholic women stands for modesty in dress, decency in moving pictures and dancing and is opposed to birth control which it considers a real menace, according to Miss Agnes G. Regan, secretary who addressed the Catholic Women's club of Green Bay.

"I am a dancing teacher, and they are no prudes, are frantic with young girls for their cheek-to-cheek, cornet-less dancing," said Miss Regan. "We do not advocate blue laws; we do not want to close the movies or advocate any of the fanaticisms we hear of today, but we will do away with suggestive pictures and improper dancing."

"We stand for the things that will save our community from shipwreck. Conditions must be improved and it is up to the women to improve them."

Miss Regan told of a series of women's meetings she attended in Washington.

"The doctrines discussed by these women, who in their own lives are moral women, would make you blush for shame," Miss Regan declared.

"The cold, calm discussion of the sanctity of marriage and birth control would make you shudder in fear at what the world may be coming to."

Justus Welna and Walter Novak, The Star hotel was among the places raided. Quantities of moonshine were found and the proprietor arrested.

Percentage Of City Tax Here Less Than Average

Appleton's Municipal Tax Is 39 Per Cent Of Entire Collection.

John A. Lomford, county assessor of incomes, has just received the second of a series of bulletins dealing with financial statistics of municipalities issued by the tax commission, a portion of which is given below.

The purpose of these publications is to present to all interested persons facts concerning conditions existing in Wisconsin municipalities. The attempt is being made to correct erroneous impressions and to substitute truth and certainty for hearsay and vagueness.

It will be noted that, contrary to the usual belief, state taxes are but a small percentage of the total. County taxes are rarely more than 25 per cent of the total and usually less than 20 per cent. It will be seen that the bulk of general property taxes in cities are levied for local city purposes and for schools.

LITTLE IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS CONDITIONS

So far there is no visible improvement in conditions among the manufacturing plants on Fox river. Those not shut down are operating on a short hour schedule and orders are coming in very slowly. Wages have been reduced in a number of instances. The rush of pulpwood is beginning to let up and this is about the only kind of freight moving.

ORLANDO BOOKED TO WRESTLE HILL HERE MARCH 17

"Swedish Giant" Will Come Here With Formidable Record—After Caddock.

Alex Orlando, better known as the "Swedish Giant," will be George Hill's next opponent on the wrestling mat. It was announced by Promoter Elmer Johnston. The bout is to be staged in Amory G. March 17. An effort was made to book Steve Savage for that date but Savage will wrestle in the far west March 15 and was unable to arrange for connections in time to get him here on St. Patrick's day.

Orlando is a man of Martinson's size but much younger. He has a most imposing record and has met nearly all of the big men in the wrestling game. He is said to be one of the fastest real big men on the mat today.

Hill is now in Chicago for a few days rest but will return within the next few days to resume his training. It is probable he will be accompanied by Mrs. Hill.

Efforts to bring Earl Caddock here for a match have not been dropped but it will be an expensive proposition. The former world champion wants a barrel of coin to meet Hill. If he is booked it probably will mean a boost in admission prices and it will be necessary to ascertain the sentiment of the fans before that is done. If fans want to see Hill and Caddock in action they can bring it about by expressing a willingness to foot the bill.

NORTHERN PAPER MILLS STILL LEAD IN PIN MEET

Buffalo, N. Y.—Metropolitan bowlers almost completely upset the standing of the five-man event of the A. B. C. tournament here Thursday night. NIAGARA BASKETEERS WHIP NEW LONDON EDISONS

New London Edison were defeated by the Niagara, Wis., basketball team last Tuesday night, 27 to 15. Niagara has won 13 and lost 2 games so far this season. Several former Bushey Business college men are playing on the northern squad which is considered one of the strongest in the middle west.

Says Every Railroad Man Should Read This

Peterson's Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y. Dear Sirs: I was afflicted with what the doctors said were Varicose Ulcers, and up until about five weeks ago I have been treating them for about a year and five months.

With all the treatments that were prescribed to me by several doctors I received little benefit, and they kept spreading and gave me much distress and caused me to quit my work.

I was induced by a brother brakeman to try Peterson's Ointment, and after I had used two boxes I saw wonderful results. You can tell suffering ones troubled with ugly, painful and horrid ulcers that your Ointment is a cure for them when everything else fails, as I have tried about everything. Thanking you many times over I am, your happy friend, Chas. J. Heyser, Battle Creek, Mich., 42 Glenwood Avenue, January 12, 1916.

"I know and dozens of people write me," says Peterson of Buffalo, "that Peterson's Ointment also cures eczema, old sores, salt rheum, piles and all skin diseases, and all druggists sell a big box for 35 cents." Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

APPLETON PLAYS FIRST TOURNAMENT GAME THIS MORNING

Local School Draws "Bye" in Selection of Opponents for First Day.

Appleton high school basketball team drew "bye" in the ninth annual sectional tournament in Oshkosh Thursday afternoon and consequently did not get into the opening day's games. The local school, however, was to play Niagara high school at 10 o'clock this morning. Niagara defeated Shawano Thursday afternoon, 18 to 16, in a hair-raising battle—as good as seen on any tournament floor.

The outcome was in doubt until the last second of play. Fond du Lac trounced Menasha in the first game of the tourney, 20 to 10. Neenah had a walk away with the Mayville school and Oshkosh trounced Ripon, 37 to 9. Defeated teams must lose one more game to be eliminated from the tourney.

Friday afternoon Shawano and Menasha are to meet and Mayville will stack up against Ripon. The losers in those games will be eliminated. The night games could not be determined until after the Appleton-Niagara game Friday morning.

The big Oshkosh normal gymnasium was packed to the doors for afternoon and night games. In fact the attendance Thursday night was so large that many fans could not get into the hall. The class of basketball and rivalry between the schools is so intense that attendance probably will grow as the tournament progresses.

If Appleton defeats Niagara Friday morning it is probable a large number of local fans will go to Oshkosh to see the second game in the evening.

EXPECT BABE WILL SET ANOTHER MARK

New York Bambino Wants to Get Early Start on Fence Wrecking Career.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—When Babe Ruth smacked out 54 homers last season conservative baseball considered this the limit.

Those who knew the babe said he would do better this year.

Some know him so well they predict at least 75 this coming season. The babe says he's going to pass his mark but he's not mentioning numbers.

From the way he's pounding the ball in the Tank's training camp at Shreveport, it seems almost sure he will break his 1920 record.

Perhaps he will knock out 75. There seems no limit to his ability. He always deals in superlatives.

As a home run hitter, the bambino never has been an early starter. In 1919 when he made his first record, he did not get under way until April 23. Last season he was led more than a good month of games, not getting cranked up until May 1. Last year he was a stranger on the Polo grounds and it took him some time to get the range of the right field stands.

Last season the babe averaged a homer in every three games. At the same rate he should pole out about ten more clouts if he gets the range from the opening game.

THE INDIAN WILL BE IN TO-MORROW.

CAN'T MAKE POLITICAL POT BOIL VERY HARD

Very little attention is being given to politics this spring and were it not for the judicial contest between Judge E. V. Werner and Attorney A. H. Krugmeier very few people would be aware that an election campaign is on. In the municipal election the only office contested is that of assessor for which there are three candidates, A. C. Rule, George Lämpert and Peter Rademacher. In the First ward, L. O. Hanson is being opposed for alderman by E. A. Walthers and in the Fifth ward Charles Pose, present alderman, is being opposed by Walter Scherck.

numbers which were perhaps the best received were, "Cantilena" by Borodin; "En Bateau," by Debussy; Widor's Toccata from the Fifth Symphony and Mr. Goodwin's "In the Garden." Mr. Goodwin's playing showed that he is a thorough and capable musician, who understands perfectly the possibilities of his instrument, and who possesses, besides a fluent technique, a sympathetic and pleasing personality.

One very enjoyable feature of the program was the singing of Master Douglas Smith, boy soprano.

March Brings Out Unsightly Spots. How to Remove Easily

The woman with tender skin dreads March because it is likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

FREIGHT AGENTS MEET IN MENASHA

Railroad Men Will Discuss Means of Improving Shipping Service.

The annual meeting of Fox River Valley Freight Agents association will be held at Menasha Hotel Thursday, March 17, at which time new officers will be elected and arrangements made for delegates to attend the annual convention in Chicago in June.

In issuing the call for the meeting, the officers said it appeared to them this organization can do more just at this time to aid in the reorganization methods now in process than in any other way.

"Much has already been accomplished through local committees," they said, "but there is much more to accomplish." The subjects to be discussed, upon which definite action will be taken, are given below.

The 48 hour credit rule.
What action should be taken on the 48 hour rule.

Assessing and collecting storage.
Collection of demurrage.
Checking of house at regular intervals.

"KOZAK UNEXCELLED," SAYS LEADING WIS. DRUGGIST

"In all my experience in selling medicines, Kozak takes the lead not only in sales but also, and mainly in its wonderful medicinal value," writes Harold Bahrerth, manager of the Drug Dept. of H. D. McCulloch Co., Stevens Point, Wis. The news of the wonderful effects of Kozak seems to have spread to every part of the city, and vicinity.

"Kozak is excellent and unexcelled for its treatment of the stomach, kidney and liver particularly. We have many testimonials to this effect from many prominent Stevens Point people, many of which were published in the Journal. Others were not."

"I am in a good position to know of Kozak's value and if I were in need of a medicine myself, Kozak would be the first I would take, because of the good I know it has done others."

Kozak, the Master Medicine, is sold by Schlitz Bros. Drug Co., Kaukauna; Kaukauna Drug Co., New London; Spearbraker, Hortonville; Gitter, Neenah, Marsh.

Glowing Spring enters Fashion's Garden

by Margorie Howe Dixon

signs are in abundance with many variations of color and material. On combination is a paneled blouse, the panels made of silk tulle, the full lace sleeves and skirt in matching crepe de chine. In fact silk tulle is the most popular material, some of the new varieties of which are most rich. Over blouses are in great demand, finishing with an elastic band at the waist or loosely belted with ribbon. Both sleeves and collars are given a wide range of styles this year. Long tight sleeves snugly buttoned seem to vie with short and three-quarter lengths. Collars may be low or high—when high one may wear them buttoned or open just as one likes.

Bright colors they tell us are quite the thing in blouses. Whether tailored or for sports wear, one may appear in brilliant tints of rose, jade green, emerald and royal blue, or yellow, periwinkle. The same is true of the more dressy blouses. Embroidered ones all over patterns are the rage with these, on crepe de chine and all the sheer fabrics.

Of course when one thinks of blouses, her thought will naturally turn to separate skirts. Although it is not the intention to discuss sport clothes here, still one may mention the smartest of the new skirts this spring has to offer. These are built on very simple lines, so that the blouse or sweater may virtually have all the attention. A few attract a good share of notice from the cheery noisiness of their plaids. English tweed in black and cardinal red is one of these while another is in charming Scotch flannelette with the same colors. Two very pretty white skirts are offered. One is a white crepe de chine all box pleated with little loops of the material trailing part way down either side. The other is white cotton—silk cloth gathered at the little, and for decoration has two very simple set-in pockets with bound edges.

Another skirt intended to be worn with a sweater to match is made of finely of hand knitted silk and wool. It is slit up one side for a few inches and has a wide border of black stitches in a checkboard pattern. Ivory white flannel is another good material for a separate skirt.

All things considered, there seem to be an abundance of new styles in every type of garment. Whether one is a business woman or a debutante, a matron, or a bride, one will be sure to find in this season's spring offerings the very expression of her need, in material, mode and color. It is recommended that one sit together three fourths of a portion of good taste, one-eighth portion of fashion and one-eighth of durability to shake thoroughly, with the result, one is clothed fresh, chic, charming in the glow of Spring.

tiny in the back trimmed with roses of black satin.

And speaking of black lace—that's a subject of utmost importance. One must own an afternoon dress of black lace, says Dame Fashion. Evening dresses, too, delight in this material. Chantilly is the favorite but black point d'esprit comes in for its share of favor. One charming mode has a kerchief bodice with a ruffling edge and a full bouffant skirt of the same material veiling knots of flowers on the skirt beneath.

A remarkably pretty dinner dress of French origin introduces us to a black and silver embroidered corsage with a high standing collar and very short sleeves. Its skirt is black satin with flounces of black chantilly over each hip. Flat made roses of silver ribbon appear twice. One partly conceals itself in the draped lace, the other is most bold and plants itself on the lower edge of the corsage.

Evening dresses have developed two distinct styles. One may choose the type best expressing one's personality. One mode is long and slim, draped in ripples, lines, featuring panels in the back or trains at the sides. It has in common with the other, more youthful model, that it practically has no back at all.

The other type shows an 1830 frock with long low fitted bodice, with a full flared skirt. Some of these remind us of Versailles with the pointed bodice, and the full flounces at the hips. As afternoon gowns are dark, so evening gowns are generally light, in pastel tints in green, mauve, turquoise blue and yellow.

For the woman who elects a smart spring suit this season there immediately arises the question of blouses. Whether tailored or for dress, de-

Canton or crepe de chine. She may have her preference in sleeves whether long and snugly fitted, or very short or very loose. Panels on skirts are the most popular—loosely flying or caught in under the skirt. Embroidery around the arm holes, and waist line—and all over the skirt except its panels, is the attractive feature of one stunning Paris gown. Another tailored frock is a straight slim affair in black broad cloth embroidered in white. This high collared, long-sleeved dress has a low waist line in a bloused effect, one side of which is banded with embroidery from shoulder to waist. Not content to stop there it continues its banded way down to the hem itself ending in a point. The general effect is straight to an extreme and very smart.

This season brings us coats, cloaks and coat-wraps. One of the French designers has presented us with a very smart model—a coat—in navy blue poplin. It is cut in Mandarin style and has a very unusual vest. From its embroidered high collar the vest goes to any length in its desire to be noticed, in other words to the hem itself. It is of gray poplin embroidered in Chinese blue and black. Another stunning garment is a coat, also of gray and blue poplin. Its collar is very loose, lined with blue Surah silk in a cravat effect. The upper half of the coat is gray with two long loose panels fastening under the hem of the straight blue skirt. Its sleeves are similarly cut, the upper half gray, the lower blue, in a loose flowing style with panels of gray, falling over and caught up inside.

A coat wrap is a comfortable garment, long draped lines giving one a loose covering that would not crush a fragile frock beneath. This wrap is a cape in the back, of gray gabardine, with a wide soft shawl collar of black poplin. This collar fastens at the waist in front, which is fitted slightly into a wide belt of striped poplin. Black forms the straight front below the belt. One black satin coat is embroidered all over the top half in white in a semi-fitted style with another afternoon wrap of the same material, boasts a panel of black chan-with a checked jacket of matching color.

One of the French houses is showing an interesting jacket. It is made in bolero style in front but in back it becomes a blouse which separates under the arms and fastens under the two front lengths as a snug little belt. The front pieces hang loose from a single button at the base of the high collar.

A word as to materials. Wool poplins are favorites—fine wool serges are also in demand, as are gabardines, reps, bureas, loosely woven home spins and coverts.

To many a woman, her tailored dress is her boon companion. Particularly is this true of the business woman. For the cooler days she may enjoy a coat dress of serge, or serge and satin—for the warmer weather crepe-the material, the garment, the mode. As to the silhouette, we are told by Paris that one must wear a low waist line, a long slim figure, and appear quite uncorrected. There is a general tendency toward slightly fitted garments, but most of them are loose and unboned.

Then there is always the fascinating subjects of suits. Our herald of spring whispers that suit coats will be short, and gayly embroidered.

There will be semi-fitted jackets, there will be bolero effects, there will be box coats. The detachable cape is still with us. Collars are sometimes rolled and very inconspicuous, sometimes high, and buttoned and embroidered.

How shall we wear sleeves in our new spring suits? Wide at the wrist is the only general rule, for some are short and others long—some are raglan, others are normal, and so it goes. Embroidery is very popular, in which white, colors and black are used.

Suit skirts continue short, plain and slim. An irregular hem is a feature of many of them broken by panels. One may wear a plain skirt

Spring's Crowning Glory—A New Bonnet

by Marjorie Howe Dixon

"The time has come, the Walrus said
To talk of many things—"

And with the very first breezes of the spring and even earlier woman's mind quickly turns to talk of her new bonnet. Long before the snow is off the ground, long before the flowers arrive, bright new hats warn us of the arrival of that ever delightful season.
Time was when new hats were kept in strict seclusion and tissue paper until the event of Easter, then to blossom forth in brave array, whether a blizzard reared or no.

Now no woman can wait. In January if it please her she will don her crowning glory and abash her dearest enemies, with a fresh new creation of dazzling novelty. After all, that's her privilege.

There are certain styles of hats which have won their way into feminine hearts through their comfort, smartness and utility. Each season plays a diapason of changes in these favorite themes. Their reappearance is never monotonous. The two styles I have in mind are sailors and turbans.

Close-fitting, comfortable, and long-enduring, either turban or sailor is a genuine addition, a real friend.

Sailors this year are as various, as changeable as the weather itself. A new straw of shiny finish and bright colors is called Barnyard mixed straw.
Barnyard we have with us again, and sipper straw and the good old Milan.
Pipings come in many colors, usually in contrast to the brim they bind. Silk and straw braids are "in," to.

Now as to shapes for sailors. It seems to be a case of suit yourself.
There are wide-brimmed, high crowned sailors. There are narrow silk brimmed ones with straw crowns.
There are soft rolling brims and stiff firm ones. All crowns are high.

One smart bright sailor rejoiced in a black shiny brim and a crown of silk braids of many bright colors, which covered the crown, and after being poked through the brim, fell behind the wearer's ear in a long sash.
Another sailor, a French model had a brim composed entirely of grosgrain ribbon, in navy blue. At the base of its faulle crown, it tied itself into a soft floppy bow.

Turbans are equally popular with women. In fact more women can wear turbans than can wear sailors. A good milliner will, however, carefully study a turban from every angle, before she sells it to her customer because a turban style can be most painfully and dreadfully awful, if it does not fit the individual.

But then one need not worry. Like the sailor hat, our friends the millners, the Paris artists, have bethought themselves of so many modes and tenses of the hat turban that no dear lady need be disappointed if she will but search a bit.

A lovely crush hat of piled up steel cellophane straw made one of these popular hats. Two coral pins jutted out from its folds like little pink horns.
Another darling took to itself a great number of velvet flowers in old blue, with tufty little lavender centers, and with these it covered itself, all except a narrow tilt of straw brim.

Some dear lady is going to wear a wonderful copper colored gem of head gear. Its shiny stuff is called candy cloth. All around and around, it is dressed with velvet flowers of copper and brown. Presuming she be blessed with auburn hair, this little coronet will be the final dainty touch to her spring costume.

For one who can wear black, a fetching turban of straw cloth, with drooping glycerine ostrich will be very smart. It starts with a circle of cellophane braid, around which lies a circle of ostrich then braid, then ostrich, alternating, until the entire crown is covered. Its effect, like monkey fur, is most unusual.

For some of the fluffier summer frocks there are specially delightful confections to entrance the eye. Who would not adore a cunning little poke bonnet bound about with two long traffing scarfs of jade green and flame color, which not content to encircle crown must needs trail way down and over one's shoulder? And another beauty on this order is of scarlet crepe weighted over one ear both above and below the crown with black cherries.

Shod in Spring Fashion

Our trim looking modern women with their short skirts have need to look to their footwear these days when it is so very much in evidence. Whether a costume demands a smartly tailored effects or a more dressy type, there are shoes in abundance from which to choose.

We are led to infer that low cut shoes are "in"—in fact you almost would have to argue with a man to get him to sell you high boots. And there is a perfectly fascinating array of be- strapped and laced and mannish shoe styles. And a special department for sports, and still another where spats have it all their own way. And a little later in the season, good old white shoes will come into their own.

Styles in straps are full of interest- ing novelties. Some of them button, some of them buckle. A pretty oxford in tan calf shows a two strap effect high on the instep, each strap with its smart little buckle. Another low shoe has a double strap which fastens with a single button. Still another has two straps laced through a cross strap, much as sandals are laced. Each of these buttons into place. All of these comfortable, sensible boots have reasonable heels—Louis XV, Cuban and Military, making an instant appeal to the woman who enjoys walking.

Let us presume she is wearing a well-tailored, slightly mannish suit. She would naturally choose for this either a Blucher oxford with its per- forated wing tip, or a tailor made pump.

Now let us consider modish boots for dress occasions. There are so many from which to choose. One clever slipper is built of black satin or oose calf, with a nobby little tongue fitting over the instep, with a neat little strap sliding under so as to hold the tongue smoothly in place. An- other slipper has an anklet that buttons and a strap that buttons. Three little cut-outs grace the triangle of oose calf (on black kid) where the instep strap buttons. Another dressy little boot is possessed of four closely fitting straps over the instep. These are made possible because of the in- set of elastic on either side.

There are smart novelties in ship- pers in New York, offered to the well- dressed woman, for evening wear. One is a black velvet pump with a green velvet covered Louis heel, and a large flaring green velvet tongue with the cleverest possible rhinestone buckle. Another pretty conceit is a grey and blue suede. This slipper has two straps over the instep and one over the ankle. Each strap has a snappy little cut-out, all its own. Still another dainty style is in black satin with a black kid diamond tip and a small collar of the same ma- terial. Its single strap is bound with the kid, making a popular little shoe.

A word or two about spats. Faun and beaver are the favorite colors. It is essential that a spat should fit beautifully. There are again seen the "boot-top" styles, in a new color called plume gray. A pair of frogs at the top are highly considered for a neat finish to an otherwise severely simple affair that the spat should always be

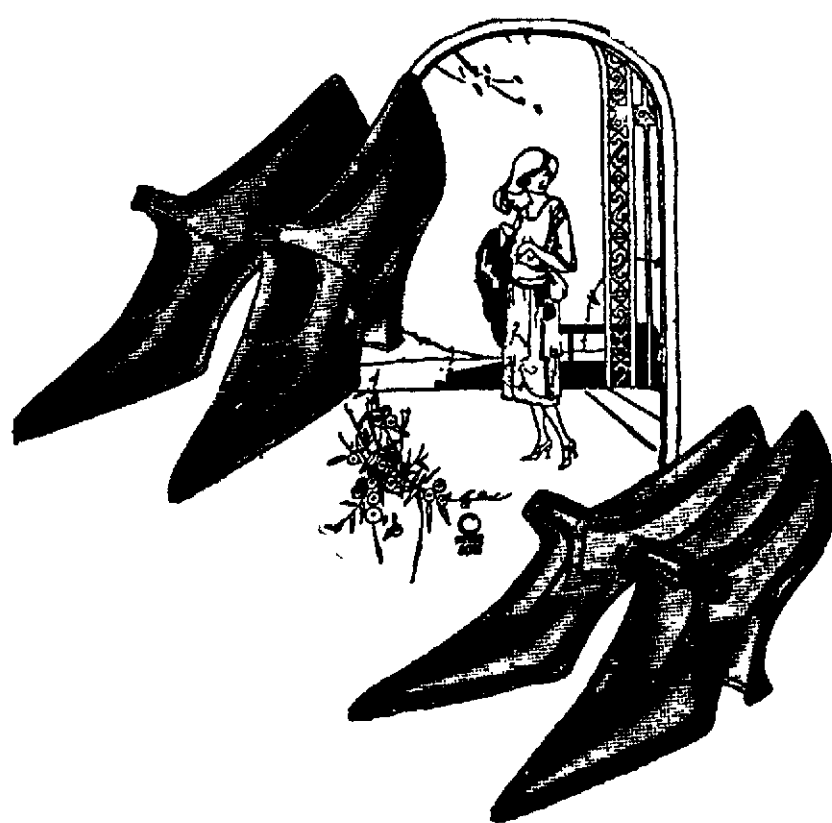

One mustn't forget colors in shoe styles. "Colors" are "in" Gray and brown suedes will be very popular. Tan calf and brown kid are also good. There are new and intriguing shades of Russian leather. With grey stock- ings to match, gray shoes especially will be seen very often this season, and in all sorts of styles of footwear.

And as for colors sport shoes are indeed resplendent in color this year. Many sports costumes, especially the tailored effects, will need shoes of exactly the right style to complete their smartness. The tip is usually of the dark leather as it should be to protect the white leather, and then there are all sorts of interesting arrange- ments on the rest of the oxford. The dark leather is usually perforated, and is used to cover the heel. Once in a while one sees a smart model that has an all white toe, while the darker leather forms a saddle strap, continu- ing to the heel.

White low-cut shoes will appear in time for the summer season with plain oxfords, plain tongue and pump effects in both canvas and buck.

Fragile Frills in Springtime Lure

It is said that a woman who is suddenly presented with the prospect of traveling, immediately mentally reviews her lingerie, in a swift search for that which is fitting, that which is presentable, that which "will do" for the new occasion. Just why her thoughts should immediately turn to the frilly side of wearing apparel, is a matter that the psychologists have not yet considered nor explained. Although we cannot imagine why it has escaped their attention, this is an important matter. Woman's love, her moods, her varieties of temperament have all received their meed of examination, and explanation—but who knows? All may hinge on this matter of lingerie.

Perhaps, you know, if her heavy eyes, freshly opening to the new day, had lighted on silk jersey step-in bloomers instead of a hand embroidered French chemise, well, who knows, the whole day might have been different, might have been radiantly flame-colored instead of dimly purple and blue. As some one has so cleverly translated from the Spanish "Ah, the difference to me."

Of all the temperamental garments we feel that the special medal should be presented to that dreamy, impractical and thoroughly delightful one, known as the negligee. To be well equipped for self-expression a woman should own a negligee for each mood. Her trained husband, glancing up from his morning paper at the breakfast table, would sigh to himself "Ah, me, Charlie is feeling a trifle distraint this morning. She's wearing that greenish ocean depths affair. I wonder what has crossed her." With this timely warning, the need only serve the negligee to ascertain her mood) he would of course wisely guide the conversation into safe channels, and not provoke his dear helpmate into an open expression of hostilities.

On the other hand, should she appear in a bewitching rosebud and lace affair, he could immediately submerge into the paper. Why not? A sporting proposition, why wouldn't he? If she set out to be entrancing and adorable, why let her? If her charms prove sufficiently powerful to drag him forth from the produce exchange columns, or whatever it is men read so absorbingly, why then more honor to her not to mention the negligee.

Of the many types, and trailings in the present array of boudoir robes one couldn't presume to indicate just which mood, each would present. For after all versatile woman will invariably adapt them to her own uses.

In the silk the new methods of dyeing have been used effectively, one in sunset colors varying from flame color to deepest purple, has been tied and dyed, in a long, sweeping cape-like affair of unusual beauty. There are also interesting breakfast jackets in loose fitting styles. These too have been tied and dyed. They are made up in those intriguing, complicated tangles, the sash of which is apt to wind round one's neck and form one sleeve, or in which a sleeve starts out with a bracelet and after several twists and turns you find it forming the front of the bodice. The movie actress sort is tripped in a deeply plaited crepe de Chine with a dreamy cape-like affair of georgette bordered with cowbeebly lace, hanging at exactly the right length to trail in one's coffee-cup at breakfast.

But then one could wear a cream batiste, literally encrusted with lace and embroidery, quaintly sashed with blue and knotted here and there on the square cut décolletage with rosebuds. No matter how confirmed a pursuer of the illusive stock market, friend husband might be, he would have to drop it for a while and come up long enough to smile pleasantly and tell one how charming she looks this morning.

Let us see the pretty new things the lady has stowed away in lavender in her dresser. She has been shopping amidst the lingerie. First out comes a set of two garments, one of a pair of fine white batiste step-in-bloomers, the other a chemise to match. Tiny blue bands of chambray bind all the edges, and embroidered dots to match decorate the top of the chemise.

Next in the pile of dainty things dear to the eternal feminine comes a snowy heap of gowns, all sleeveless—some with square cut neck and empire waist, some with drop shoulders similar to dresses of the 1830 period.

Another group of garments, one's friend from Paris proudly displays, are brilliant in colored silks. Some are in black, some are in rose—made very scant in the present day mode, and all whether chemises or camisoles are finished with shoulder straps. Among this pile too are the new collottes, step-in-bloomers with elastic belt and a wide fluffy skirt-like leg to them.

Now she has brought out her lovely new brassieres. Of course she has only a few of the many kinds shown in the shops. But I am told by her in confidence, that the array of brassieres was so very bewildering, it was all she could do to make any sort of selection. She saw real lace, metal brocades—satin ribbon, and all kinds of lace combinations, for instance—

Venetian Point with Duchess, and Milan with Brussels and so on. Among her own, she shook out for my inspection, a delicious collection of deep cream net served with garnishings of embroidered batiste motifs. Another delight to the eye was a fitted bra-siere of plain rose satin ribbon with a tiny edge of Venetian Point lace. To go with her dearest evening dress, she revealed to me, amidst its wrappings of tissue paper, a stunning metal cloth bodice, its lovely dull shimmer further enhanced by a border of satin roses in pastel shades across the top.

I asked her the latest news about corsets. She said first of all, one should appear uncorseted. For figures inclining to plumpness the corset must give support and nip in a little at the waist. She told me the sales girls all declare the most popular models to be low in the bust, long over the hips and practically unboned. They are selling black satin corsets still, although pale rose is the favorite color. As to materials, silk jersey is most in demand, satin comes next, and cotton trunks appear in the moderate price corsets. Occasionally, one finds val lace and flat roses used as trimming but usually corsets are plain.

All things considered, I should say that my friend from Paris should feel quite contented and very well equipped in case a journey were suddenly presented to her, and she should go through that process, described at the beginning, of mentally reviewing her lingerie.

SPORT CLOTHES

Among the fascinating garments the modern woman elects to wear, are those called sports clothes. So important has their place become in a well-equipped wardrobe, that we find all manner of toga especially designed for sports. There are colorful capes, there are brilliant sweaters, of dressy there are legions, and skirts and suits and blouses no end.

In the first place, any frock or cape, or skirt, when it decides to join the sports class, promptly renounces conservative color, bashful tints, subdued harmonies and frankly and joyfully blazes forth in brilliant splashes that delight the eye. Each season adds new colors to the present lengthy list. Among these are lemon, and tangerine, raspberry and flamingo pink. Materials are as diverse and various as the colors.

When MEdady motorm, or bathes, or if she strolls on the beach she most needs have a knitted cape. And which shall she choose among the many models offered her? There one beholds a plain knitted tan cape with a shaggy wool cross-over stole—here one sees a huge enveloping affair of shaggy wool striped brilliantly with henna, on a king blue ground—gathered into a wide yoke across the shoulders. Or yet in another direction she may see and desire a green jersey cape in a dolman effect, with broad bands of vicuna wool for its long collar extending to the very hem of it, and ending in silk fringe.

Among sweaters too, there seems no limit to the possibilities or varieties. Sweaters appear in Tuxedo coat effects, slip over blouse affairs and some of the newer ones even resort to high collars. Whether silk or wool whether gay or sombre, she must somehow make a choice.

PRICE IS MOST RADICAL CHANGE IN MEN'S CLOTHES

Coats Will Be Shorter Than Year Ago and Prices Will Be Third Less.

Top Coats

Two feature spring coat models, both decidedly different, are sure of popularity this spring. The "Huddler" knitted coat, in oxford gray, navy and heather, cut 42 inches long, with the loose box back and full skirt, will appeal to men who are inclined to be more conservative and expect several seasons wear. This particular spring coat is considered the most practical top coat on the market.

The "Gabardine" spring coat is being favored by the younger men. This material is best known for its excellent service. The Gabardine feature model is cut 44 inches long, raglan shoulders, back yoke, inverted pleat, full belt and full flaring skirt. This is truly a very striking garment. Both of the above numbers were sold at $35.00 last season but will be offered this spring at $27.50.

Suits

The change in spring suits will be more noticeable in price than in style. However, a few half belted models will be shown in the younger men's styles. The favored styles will be the two and three button single breasted coats with flap pockets. The coats will be about one inch shorter than last season which seems to be accepted very gladly by the average buyer.

Suits that sold at $30.00 last season will be shown this spring for $20.00 by retailers who sacrificed their last season's stock.

The merchants who started to sacrifice their clothing stocks early in the season will be in better position to offer extreme values. The "Monroe" clothes makers will furnish their exclusive distributors with suits this spring to retail from $25.00 to $35.00 and a big volume of business will be done at these prices.

Hats

The $5.00 hat promises to be the popular seller for spring. Leading men's shops will show fine quality felts in the narrow shapes with bound edge and silk lined as low as $5.00. The finer imported hats will sell at about $3.00. Bowlers will lead in popularity.

Neckwear

This is the season when men should stock up on neckwear. Tremendous price cutting is being done by the larger manufacturers to clean up their stocks of high priced silks and to stimulate business in the market for their product. Retailers are taking advantage of the situation and should offer neckwear to the trade at prices considerably lower than last season. It is predicted in the market that prices on neckwear will be higher for fall. Wise buyers will take advantage of the present situation and stock up from stores offering these unusual values.

Hosiery

Men's hosiery will be offered this spring at prices way below last season. $1.25 and $1.50 silk hose of last season will be shown by leading men's stores at .75 cents and $1.00. Fibre silk hose will again be shown at the old price of .50 cents. Cottons and laces will also be much cheaper this spring.

Shirts

The old $1.50 shirt will again be offered to the trade this spring but the $2.00 seller will be a much better value and a more popular seller with the value seeker. Highest grade shirt makers will have their shirts in retail stores selling from $3.00 and up. $10.00 will buy the very best, heavy weight, old time broad cloth silk shirts again this spring and they promise to become just as popular and as much favored as ever.

Underwear

Knitted Union Suits in the lighter weights for spring will again be shown at $2.00 in the finer well-known makes the same qualities that sold from $2.50 to $3.00 last season.

Athletic underwear will be shown in three grades—lower, medium and fine grades, selling at $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, these same grades sold last season at $1.50, $2.25, $2.50 to $3.00.

The buying public will appreciate the much lower prices that are in effect this spring season.

We're Ready to Serve You Well — for Spring —

MORE important than usual is our Spring announcement this year—for the merchandise is the first produced since the Clothing industry became stabilized—following the recent adjustment period. As a result our exhibit is informative. It typifies both the greater quality and value you may expect—and is truly representative of the season's best offering.

This store will be open Monday evening, (March 14th) to display and show the new things for Spring. We welcome your inspection of our Spring display. Nothing will be sold during the evening.

Refinement is Reflected in Men's Spring Clothes

by Otto A. Engel

Unsettled conditions, due to the readjustment through which the clothing industry is passing, had its effect upon the styles for spring and summer wear. For many weeks during the fall and winter season many factories were either closed or working on short schedules.

After four bountiful years, during which all concerned with the clothing trade enjoyed the height of prosperity, a reaction set in—a reaction so severe that many manufacturers lost nearly all they had gained during the prosperous era.

Not Many Style Changes

As a result the leaders of fashion didn't have much time to devote to new style changes. Financial affairs were absorbing most of their time. Consequently this spring will see less change in styles for men than during any season in the last decade.

Of course younger men will always lean toward some novelty ideas, but the general style trend will follow the more conservative lines. What may be lost in style will be more than compensated for in better weathers and better tailoring.

Conditions Changed Today

During the period that followed the war and the return of the soldiers from abroad the clothing industry was running at top speed. Mills turned out fabrics at break-neck speed and journeymen didn't put the finer touches into the garments.

Today conditions are reversed. That is there was more time to think about better and finer weathers and workmen have proved more efficient.

Reject Radical Ideas

The fanciful styles of the last two years will not be so noticeable this spring. Designers were quick to sense the acceptance or rejection of their ideas and men's clothes cannot be forced to the degree that is possible with women's modes. Hence we will see a more conventional note in the spring clothing—a note that is truly in accord with the tastes of refined dressers.

Young men simply wore the radical styles because they were the vogue but accepted them with a notable reluctance. And as time passed the average man's idea of what style should be in clothes swung with the pendulum.

Wide Shaped Trousers

The only important change in men's suits will be in the shaping of the trousers. These will be slightly fuller—a bit more English, but not quite as extreme as the London idea.

In the making of the coats young men will still continue to find the full chested effect, but not quite as pronounced as last season. The skirt although continued long, will not have the perceptible flare.

Belted Effects Now Rare

During the last year there has been a gradual retirement of the belted effects and there has been a discontinuance to a degree of the pleated and panel back effects. They will not be used extensively in the spring clothes, but with greater frequency in the summer clothes, in which the sports feature will predominate.

Patch and plain pockets will be the vogue, while the crescent-shaped pockets will be discarded almost entirely. Four button models will be seen a great deal more than heretofore and double-breasted will remain in good taste.

Little Trimming in Vests

Vests will remain collarless; of the single-breasted sort, with hardly any trimmings. Such things as pleats and pocket buttons will rarely be seen.

Some pleats, yokes and panels will be shown in lounge suits, but not nearly as much as last season. What novelty effects remain will be shown in the button treatments on pockets and cuffs.

Suits for business and general wear for the coming season are shown in fancy silk worsteds herringbones, in gray, brown and blue mixtures. Prominent among the newer styles are the so-called Mayflower stripes in shades of gray, oxford, blue and brown. These are made of pure worsted yarn, of good weight for year 'round service.

Checks Remain in Favor

Shepherd checks, herringbones in blue, brown and gray stripes, Glen Urquhart and Tartan checks and overplaids will continue in favor. Men's models are made with either full or half lining, while young men's styles are constructed with French facings and silk piping.

Trousers for outing wear are made of duck, navy drill, flannel, gabardine, doeskin and serge cloth. Palm Beach and mohair fabrics also will be favored.

Smaller Effects New

There are no particular lines of patterns prescribed as fashionable, but small effects will be more noted than the larger plaids. Narrow stripes, club checks, small mixtures, small overplaids and iridescent will be worn by the majority of good dressers.

Flannels, unusually popular for many seasons, will share the honors again. They are for the most part in dark rich tones, in dark blues, dark greens, purples, myrtles, various shades of brown and gray, olive greens and tans, with pin stripes, pencil stripes and two-toned effects.

Palm Beach The Vogue

Among the mid-summer fabrics Palm Beach again will rule supreme. Mohairs, homeespuns, light weight flannels, tropical worsteds, crashes, rich pongees, abantung and habitudinal silks will offer every man and young man a choice variety from which to make selection. The styles for these suits will follow the lines of last season with several new color innovations.

Styles in topcoats will adhere closely the lines of the new spring suits. This refers to shoulders, waistline and chest. Some are form-fitting, others are slightly body tracing and still others are of the regulation Chesterfield effect, now in vogue for ten or more years. A few belted coats are shown, but in a lesser degree than ever.

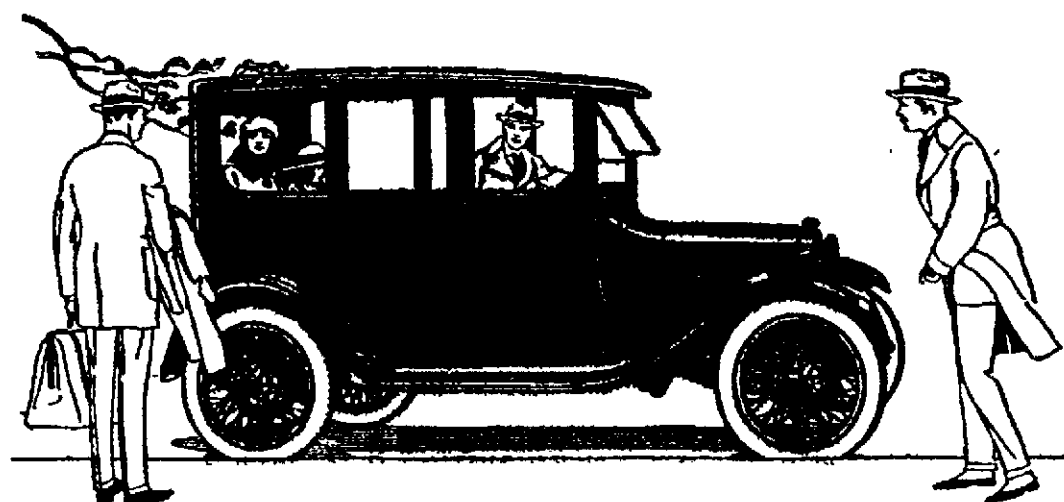

DODGE BROTHERS 4 DOOR SEDAN

It attracts especially those who are inclined to look for beauty combined with comfort and economy.

This is evidenced by the astonishing number of women who own and drive Dodge Brothers 4 Door Sedan.

New Color Tones Offered in Spring Haberdashery
by Otto A. Engel.

73-50-21

Spring, 1921, will find nearly all lines of Haberdashery back to a sane price basis. The $25 silk shirt of a year ago, when the cost of raw silk reached its peak through an inflated market, probably will never be seen again. The $8 neckwear is a relief of other days.

For several years previous to 1920 silk shirts were worn for all occasions—social as well as business. But with prohibitive prices of last spring the business man was forced to go back to the madras or fibre silk shirt. Today the price of the average silk shirt is where the fibre silk shirt was a year ago.

The Reason for the Decline

When the wave of economy hit the American consumer last autumn and the Japanese silk market went to the bow wows, the manufacturer who was left high and dry with a lot of high priced silk shirts could do nothing else but "get from under." This started a downward crash of prices which will reach rock bottom this spring. And once more the range of good silk shirts will be from $7.50 to $12 at the better stores.

Of course there will be a quality of silk shirts made of the almost transparent tub silk at prices as low as $4 and $4.50 which a year sold for $8 to $10. But what we mean by the better silk shirts are those of baby broadcloth and Jersey knits—the kind that gives the buyer the best service and with proper care and cautious laundering will outwear a madras shirt.

Smaller Stripes This Year

Instead of the broad stripes of other years the tendency for spring and summer is toward the pin stripes, pencil stripes and small checks. There is more of an air of refinement than ever. And the grade of workmanship is of a higher order.

Up to last year when factories were working at top speed workmanship was given secondary consideration, but with the decreased demand more time has been devoted in turning out better shirts. This spring will see a grade of shirt tailoring that approaches the custom-made brand as nearly as is possible for large quantity production.

Fiber Silk Shirts Improve

If Mr. Man wants a high grade shirt that is a second cousin to the silk shirt he will turn to the fibre silk shirt. Never before has such progress been made in beautifying of fibre silks as is evidenced in the new lines. The makers have taken such pains in the weaving of the cloth and in the making that it takes a close examination to distinguish them from the real thing.

Included in the spring selection are many novelty weaves that will appeal in beauty of pattern, richness of material, durability and price moderation.

Scotch Madras Popular

Cotton shirts are certain to sell strong this spring, especially the highest grades. Fine madras cords, chambrays, oxfords, chevots, poplins and percales still continue the vogue. Among the novelties will be Scotch madras of a highly mercerized effect.

With many of these shirts will go separate collars, some hard, but the great majority of the soft kind. Flannel shirts also will be worn by discriminating dressers, especially those made from the French and English selected cloths. Such shirts for early spring and sport wear are considered smart.

Neckwear Prices Down

Neckwear prices, too, have taken a tumble and men need no longer pay from $4 to $8 to get the better grades. Prices are quite moderate, with excellent qualities from $1 to $3.50.

Some of the finest types of imported grenadines, especially those handloom silks from Italy, will sell around $3.50 instead of $6—the price of last spring. Stripes—not the striking kind of other years—but the more subdued variety, will predominate. The better grades will be shown in dark colors and heather mixtures.

Scarves From Foreign Lands

Foreign countries, more than ever, will contribute to the spring display. Heavy woven cords, embroidered effects of printed floral and all-over designs will have a large following. Italy, Switzerland, France, England and in the Far East will do their share in giving America a greater and finer variety than ever before.

Knitted ties will be narrower than ever before. Instead of all over effects the vogue will be stripes. Plain colors will continue to be dressy, with plain black considered the smartest.

Hosiery Designs the Same

There will be few changes in hosiery designs and materials. Men who believed that silk hose was the thing for distinctive dress now will turn to the fine cassimeres, camel hair and imported worsteds. They come in small two tones, heather mixtures and solid colors.

Fine silk accordeons and embroidered effects will not be shown as extensively as in former years, but clocks of self contrasting colors will be considered in good taste. Colors in plain silk and lisle will remain very much like last spring.

Little Changes in Gloves

Little change will effect gloves. Cape, Arabian mocha, suede, buck and chambray in standard colors or off tones will furnish the variety for the season. Spear or embroidered backs are the only ornamentation with pearl button slightly favored over the old time clasps.

There's really nothing new in the pajama line. Plain or pattern effects of madras, percales, crepes, chambrays, soisette, fiber silk and pure silk with the French neck continue in popular favor.

Soft collars will find a ready sale again this season. There probably will be more hard collars worn than heretofore, due to the fact that they will be lower in style and more comfortable for hot weather.

No radical changes mark underwear, belts, jewelry, handkerchiefs and walking sticks.

Simpler lines, smaller shapes, lower crowns and narrower brims will be the fashion in men's hats for spring, 1921. We had a small taste of these styles last fall, but during the coming season the effects will be more pronounced and more general.

The influence of foreign importation is more notable this year than ever before. For a long, long time American manufacturers trailed far behind their rivals across the sea. Progress in style was sadly lacking, materials were inferior to the foreign brands and workmanship of a lower order.

American Makers Awaken

During the last year American makers have awakened to the fact that improvement must be the order of the day. And, today the Yankee manufacturer is forging ahead with steady strides.

Of course hats from France, Italy, England and other foreign makers assert their attractions more from a standpoint of fabric elegance rather than any novelty note in the styling. From "across the pond" we will get hats that are rich in color tones, soft in texture, but the usual lustrous finish of other years will not be as prominent.

Novelty Mixtures Strong

But the most popular of domestic makes will be the novelty mixtures and these have won greater popular favor with each season.

There isn't as much dash in the hats this spring. The tendency is toward the sedate proportions. In soft hats as well as derbies the brims will be narrower, with the crown of the soft hats measuring about 5 1/4 inches and the brim about 2 1/4 inches wide. This will make the crown reach the degree of squattiness and this is accentuated by the curl-up in the brim.

Wide Hats Discarded

The broad army, sombrero and cavalry effects of other years will be discarded almost entirely. But what the hats lack in dash is more than compensated for, in the texture tones.

Solid colors of rich tones will predominate, while there will be a scattered showing of two-tone mixtures; just a few silk finishes and some blended mixtures.

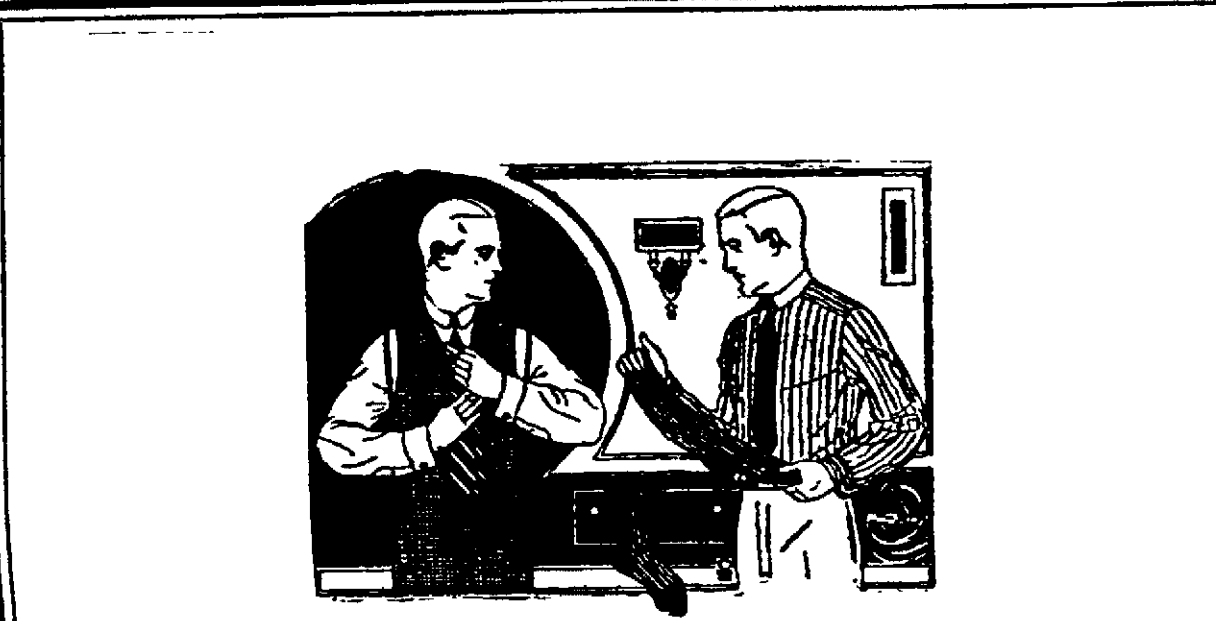

The minimum amount of trimming will rule this spring as simplicity is the keynote. The ribbon binding of a number of years also will be missing—not altogether but to such a degree as to be noticeable. The welt brim will take its place.

The small shape as described above will feature the derby. Black will be the major color, with a few browns, tans and pearls. The two latter colors will be more prevalent in the Homberg shapes worn by the older men. The younger men will prefer the natty small shapes.

In wool hats patterned fabrics of tweeds and cassimeres are shown to some degree. These usually come in small patterns and heather mixtures. The popularity of such hats is extensive in foreign lands, but their favor is greatly increased with each season in America.

No Change in Cap Styles

The styles in caps remain practically the same as last season. In fact there has been no radical departure in design for the last three years. The one-piece cap is liked considerably more than the five or six piece head covering, while the golf styles probably will be worn a great deal more than the full crown effects of two years ago.
